Technology For Today's Dining

Whether you say "How may I help you" at the counter or drive-thru window, through a kiosk or a call center, in English, Chinese or another language, Compris can help. Or, if customers want to pay with check, credit, debit or gift card, Compris' integrated payment processing handles all these functions with ease.

Compris' home delivery module manages the steps from receiving call center orders to dispatching drivers and tracking delivery statistics. Its flexible management of customer data offers fast lookup, last-order memory, and exportable formats for marketing campaigns. The extensive functionality includes an order-ahead feature that automatically manages orders that need to be delivered in minutes or months into the future.
